"(...) The government also announced the suspension of automatic austerity measures under the fiscal rules, triggered whenever the deficit-to-GDP ratio increases if public debt exceeds 50% of GDP, for 2013 and 2014. According to Finance Minister Jacek Rostowski, the government is working on a new expenditure rule that will allow public spending to rise in line with medium-term nominal GDP growth. The goal of the planned changes is to foster counter-cyclical fiscal policy and support a further decline in the cyclically adjusted deficit towards 1% of GDP in 2016. The measures also illustrate the dual nature of fiscal and debt rules, given that they can limit policy flexibility while seeking to anchor policy credibility.

Poland's current fiscal rules sought to impose fiscal sustainability at the price of constraining room for policy manoeuvre, highlighting ambitious targets. However, as the rules are tested under stressful economic conditions, the authorities recognise the need for enhancements in order to make them more forward-looking, more transparent and more crisis-proof. In our view, the proposed enhancements to the fiscal rules aim at making them more counter-cyclical, which will strengthen the fiscal framework in future years by providing more flexibility, while at the same time maintaining transparent rules with clear sanction mechanisms."

Piotr Marczak, Director of the Public Debt Department, MoF

"Despite no Treasury securities auctions in July, there is about PLN 48bn of funds in PLN and in foreign currency held on the MoF's accounts.

Those excess funds in foreign currency will collateralize the additional borrowing needs to a large degree. Another source will constitute funds from higher than planned loans incurred from international financial institutions and possible issuances on foreign markets. Domestic issues will depend on the market situation. In case of significant demand for bonds in PLN higher foreign currency funds will serve for prefinancing borrowing needs of 2014.

No T-bills auctions are planned for this year, nevertheless they are not precluded in case of turbulences on financial markets. In August we will redeem the last outstanding bills of PLN 3.1bn. Hence for the first time, since the debut T-bills auction in 1991, their outstanding amount will decrease to zero.

We assume the possibility of holding T-bonds auction in August according to the issuance calendar. Due to volatile situation on the financial markets as well as summer holidays time the issuance is conditional. A substantial overliquidity can be observed on the market. In July PLN 9.5bn was transferred to the market as funds from redemptions of T-securities and servicing costs. In August this would be PLN 3.8bn, additionally PLN 1.5bn will be transferred to the Open Pension Funds.

In June foreign investors' portfolio held in PLN decreased by PLN 5.3bn. Few foreign entities were selling T-bonds until the beginning of July. In next two decades foreign investors were buying Polish bonds again at the amount higher than preceding sales and the redemption of PLN 1.6bn of bonds maturing on July 25, 2013."
